

1 Galakaway, a spirit Guide,
2 Channeled by Mario Raby

3
4 Allow me to introduce Galakaway first, before giving him the floor.

5 This peculiar celestial Guide has followed me for 45 years now, helping 6 me through difficult passages, hard choices, to help me develop my inner 7 senses along with resiliency. I know he intends to remind you that channeling
8 is given to everyone and that there are just simple tools to develop to achieve
9 it. To invite Galakaway, I would like us all to sing Hallelujah together.

10 (Mario and the audience singing Hallelujah)

11 (Voice of Galakaway)

12 Shala-Kala-Noway, everyone. Shala-Kala-Noway to all of you.

13 I am Galakaway from the Celestial Planes. I act as a Spiritual Guide, as 14 you call it.

15 Many other Guides with you today are calling out to you, so that your 16 ears may be opened. They are making a show before you, so you may see 17 them. They breathe on you, so that you feel them. But to do this, you must use 18 your inner senses.

19 Earth teaches us to put down roots in this world, so we do not lose our 20 footing. And Heaven teaches us to rise like flowers so that we can bloom.

21 I would just like to remind you that your physical body is made up of 22 endocrine glands and that your ethereal body is also made up of glands made 23 of light. You simply need to activate them to restore order within your 24 physical body, to restore the perfect health to which you are destined, for you
25 are sons and daughters of God, and as such, you are entitled to this ideal
26 health. You are entitled to perfect love. You are entitled to perfect serenity

27 and the perfect tools to discover this world you have chosen to explore under 28 the conditions you have also favored.

29 Now, the first of your duties are to recognize your responsibility in 30 everything you do, to appreciate your uniqueness, and to see the value of that 31 uniqueness. I am going to suggest to you today that you take seven breaths 32 that will activate these ethereal glands.

33 First, you raise your mind to your Source, your Supreme Self, your 34 Divine Self, and you call upon it:

35 “Great Spirit of the Lord, I greet your coming down into me!”

36 It will activate your coronal chakra and its associated pineal gland. In 37 time, you will hear a continuous sound on the note "B." This gland of light 38 emits a violet sun. Take a deep breath and see this violet flame ignite and 39 permeate your entire aura with this same color. This purple fire will burn away
40 any lingering doubts within you. Open yourself to the perfect divine wisdom.

41 Your second breath will be directed to the third eye linked to the 42 pituitary gland, emitting an indigo-blue fire and opening your inner vision to 43 the infinity of Creation. The inner sound will descend one note and emit an 44 "A." This ethereal gland is associated with the pituitary gland in your physical 45 body. Breathe in this blue light and cover yourself with it. This fire will burn 46 away all the boundaries, all the barriers that you still have; that remain in your 47 mental body from your upbringing.

48 On your third breath, direct it to your throat and inhale this sky-blue 49 light. Again, the scale will descend into your inner ear attached to your 50 hypophysis gland and vibrate to the sound of "G." This vibration will also 51 regulate the proper functioning of your thyroid and parathyroid glands. Let 52 the sky-blue light consume all the secrets, the unspoken ones, that you keep, 53 so that the ultimate truth can strike your inner ear.

54 Take a fourth breath for the heart. Open it wide and let the green light
55 burst forth with the sound vibration "F." The emerald-green fire will consume
56 all criticism and judgments you have towards yourself or others. Let yourself
57 be filled with this unconditional love. Your thymus gland will freely secrete 58 antibodies that will protect your body from any intruder, consuming at the 59 same time any criticism or judgments you still secretly hold within or against 60 yourself.

61 Take a fifth breath and direct it to the solar plexus. Fill yourself with 62 peace and serenity, see the golden-yellow fire, and let the sound "E" vibrate 63 within you. The fire and the sound will consume all anxieties, worries, and 64 everything that destabilizes and unbalances. Your pancreas, liver, and gall 65 bladder will also restore harmony in your digestive system.

66 Your sixth breath will be directed to the spleen chakra, the child chakra.
67 It emits a bright orange fire and is accompanied by the note "D." It restores 68 the balance within your gonads, your glands of reproduction, of creation. Let 69 this child invade you, let his bell-like laughter resonate in your eardrum, let 70 your child's creativity express itself freely and burn, consume, all the residual 71 sadness in you, all the wounds of your childhood and your entire life. Let them 72 fall into ashes and return to the earth.

73 Your seventh breath will be directed to the coccyx, the root chakra. Its 74 red light, and the accompanying "C" sound will fill you with strength, 75 grounding, courage, and resilience. They stimulate your adrenal glands and 76 cause a resurgence of adrenaline in your metabolism. Let these hormones and 77 this light consume all the fears you have, all the fears of not being up to the 78 task.

79 Then you can go the other way, up from the root to the crown, after 80 connecting to the Earth.

81 Ask the Earth to offer you the strength of its rocks, by focusing on your 82 root chakra, at the coccyx.

83 Let it offer you its creativity and joy of its flowers. Combine them with 84 the spleen chakra.

85 Let it offer you its serenity, its balance of its calm lakes and place them 86 in the solar plexus.

87 Let the Earth fill your heart with its generous love and vitality of its 88 forests.

89 May the Earth and its winds, offer you the fluidity of expression, the 90 infinite freedom of sharing your truth.

91 May it help you to open your eyes, may it grant you the vision of the 92 hawk who knows how to fly high, to see the whole of creation.

93 Ask the Earth to unite its sagacity with yours and unite both, the Earth's 94 wisdom and yours, with that of the so-called higher planes.

95 This simple practice realigns you, stimulates your pineal, pituitary,
96 hypophysis, thyroid, thymus, pancreas, spleen and adrenal glands.

97 Reactivating them allows the circulation of serotonin, adrenaline,
98 melatonin, and all those hormones that come to exchange through the nervous
99 network of your brain and bring you to euphoria, this altered state where you 100 become completely open, not only to the earthly universe but also to the 101 advice of your loved ones, whether they are deceased, angels, or Guides.

102 They will surely talk to you about nature and the examples it gives us.

103 They will invite you to observe the abundance of tree seeds that testify 104 to the opulence to which you, too, are destined.

105 They will surely tell you that the seed we plant has its own genetics and 106 uniqueness, and that if you plant a carrot seed, you will never harvest celery.

107 They will also emphasize that miracles grow where they are sown.

108 They will also encourage you to accept your present conditions. They 109 are there to prove your greatness and your power to overcome all difficulties, 110 because as a weightlifter, no one does become powerful by lifting feathers.

111 They will also explain to you that you have at your disposal the 112 resources to gain power and that these resources do not come from the ego, 113 do not come from the mental plane, but from much higher.

114 They will also assure you of the guidance that is offered to you during 115 your nights, during your sleep, during your dreams, as well as during your 116 days.

117 They will teach you the power of your word and the importance of 118 choosing your words well, for everything you see on Earth first sprang from 119 a thought translated into a word. This word strengthens your faith and belief 120 in yourself. It tells you that it is possible. This faith pushes you to take the 121 actions that build the reality you are in.

122 So please do not blame your reality, because it is the result of what you 123 have thought, what you have believed, and the actions and decisions you have 124 taken.

125 Remember, dear friends, that “here and now” in this perpetual present
126 lies your omnipotence. It is in this absolute, eternal “here and now” that you 127 can build your tomorrow. This is one of the important tasks you have come to 128 learn and relearn.

129 They will surely talk about what you are going through and remind you
130 that what you experiment is a consequence of what you have been in this life
131 or in others. They will undoubtedly reveal to you those other significant lives 132 that are associated with what you call your karma. In truth, this is related to 133 the law of the pendulum, or as you often call it, the law of return.

134 Finally, they will also lull you into dreams and stimulate your 135 imagination, for they know very well that the channel of the imagination and 136 the channel of perception of the invisible planes are intertwined, interrelated.
137 If you don't let your imagination run free, you can't perceive what's on the 138 other side.

139 My subject was taken at a very young age. He began by taking a “Good 140 God” tour, and much was revealed to him in this exhilarating journey.

141 As in many families, the parents were concerned about this overactive
142 imagination, as it seemed to them. But they didn't hold him back nor oppose 143 some of their convictions to him. They prayed, and this intuition, this 144 perceptiveness, developed over the years.

145 When he was twelve years old, he had his first visual contact with me,
146 his Guide, and with his deceased grandmothers.

147 He began to have hunches, prescience. He knew when an unexpected
148 visitor was coming. His mother was pleased about this, because she made sure 149 she had something to receive the unanticipated traveler, as if this surprising
150 guest was Christ himself.

151 From the age of fifteen, his faculties became increasingly developed.
152 At eighteen, he began to serve the Heavenly Plan, offering channeling not just 153 for himself but also for others.

154 He began working in spiritualist centers to demonstrate not only the 155 channeling but also the individual messages coming down from the Heavenly 156 Planes.

157 He was blessed to know great loves, which contributed a lot to his 158 opening himself more and more to the revealing and helping visions of his 159 invisible Guides, to their voices, or to the scenes that they depicted to him.
160 They helped him see the invisible.

161 Then, his power of creativity led him to the theater, directed him
162 towards classical dance, music. He made it his daily bread for several decades.

163 He also learned to serve and to give of himself. When his first wife 164 allowed herself to be escorted to the gates of the dock for her final journey of 165 no return, she offered him the opportunity to help her through her long illness.
166 Doing so, he learned and developed still more compassion. It was her last gift 167 to him, and it was his last gift to her. He developed resilience, courage, and 168 faith.

169 When she was gone, he had to strengthen his resilience and letting go 170 even further. Of course, we, his Celestial Guides, supported him all along.
171 That is our task, that is our will, and that is our pleasure as well, for the love
172 of you humans, for this Creation, and for the love of our Creator to all.

173 So, beloved protégés, remember to cleanse your channel daily through 174 these breaths. Hurry to anchor yourselves to Mother Earth. See how, in the 175 spring, the rising sap will bring forth your own life sap, your essence of 176 fulfillment. As the tree, you will produce many leaves and many fruits. And 177 each of these fruits, like each of your words that you sow in the ears of those 178 who want to hear them, will, in turn, like a seed, produce its own tree. In this 179 way, the paradise to which every man and woman aspires can be established 180 on Earth.

181 We are happy to be able, today, to share these few kind words with 182 beings of the heart, with beings who are searching... with beings who love, 183 but who would like to love more... with beings who are joyful, but who wish 184 to be even more euphoric.

185 These are your tasks. Ours is to accompany you to achieve them. Let 186 your personal voices of creativity enter your daily lives. For some, it will be 187 writing, for others, painting or sewing, for others, woodworking, or sculpture.

188 For others still, it will be to manufacture and invent new tools and devices.
189 All these modes of creativity stimulate your power of receptivity.

190 Watch your heart so that it emits only benevolence and forgiveness; this 191 is the way to erase criticism and judgment. Let your thoughts and truths flow 192 freely, for we have told you:

193 "Each of you is unique. When each and every one of you puts forth your 194 uniqueness, your truth, you have a complete picture of what absolute truth is."

195 I use the example of the apple sitting at the center of a table between 196 four people looking at it. To one it will be red, to the other green, and to the 197 other two it will be half red and half green, and as you say what you see,
198 everyone will know that this apple is ripening, but that it has not yet reached 199 its perfect bloom, its perfect ripening.

200 Let yourself finally see big, even bigger than what you think is your 201 limit. There are only the barriers that everyone imposes on themselves. So go 202 beyond what you think are your boundaries.

203 We greet you now and thank you for your attentive listening. I will now
204 give the floor to my protégé, the one allowing me to speak to you today. I
205 have been with him since before he was born. With him, I have prepared this 206 incarnation.

207 Greetings to all. Shani-Kawi-Nesté.

208 (Galakaway sings a native song...)

209 (Voice of Mario)

210 Thank you for this generous listening. Now let me offer you a glimpse 211 of what your personal Guides want to share with you, individually.

212 (The rest of the conference is linked to distinctive interventions and 213 personal messages to people in the audience.)
